

How do you find the journals that publish the most articles on your topic (regardless of whether they are top journals)?

You can use the "Analyze results" option in Web of Science. Follow the steps described below.

Here is an example:

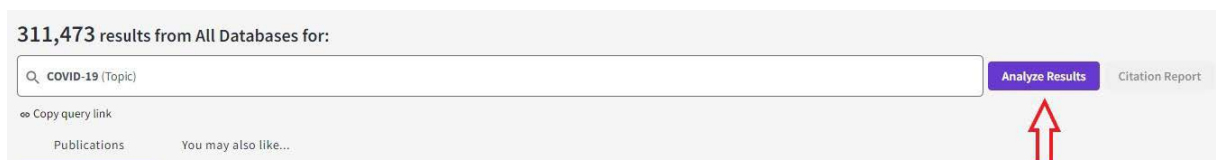

You want to know which journals publish the most papers on COVID-19:

- Step 1: Search for this topic in Web of Science:

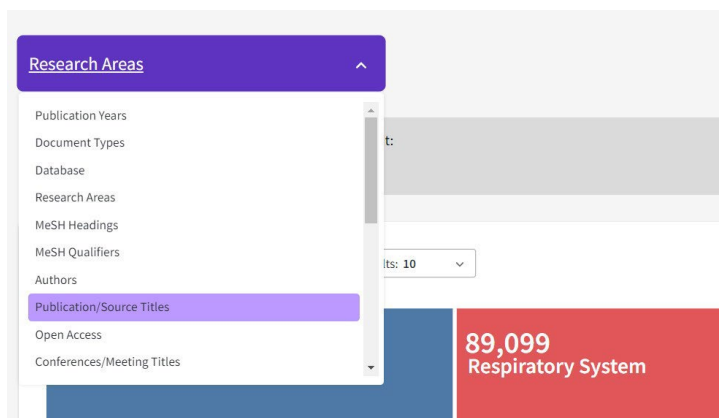

The screenshot shows the Web of Science search interface. At the top, there are tabs for 'DOCUMENTS' and 'RESEARCHERS'. Below the tabs, there are search filters: 'Search in: All Databases' and 'Collections: All'. There are two tabs for 'DOCUMENTS' and 'CITED REFERENCES'. A search box contains 'COVID-19' with a red arrow pointing to the 'Topic' dropdown menu. Below the search box are buttons for '+ Add row', '+ Add date range', and 'Advanced Search'. At the bottom right, there are 'Clear' and 'Search' buttons.

- Step 2: Click on "Analyze results":

The screenshot shows the search results page. At the top, it says '311,473 results from All Databases for:'. Below this is a search box containing 'COVID-19 (Topic)'. To the right of the search box are buttons for 'Analyze Results' and 'Citation Report'. A red arrow points to the 'Analyze Results' button. Below the search box, there are links for 'Copy query link', 'Publications', and 'You may also like...'. At the bottom right, there is a red box with the text '89,099 Respiratory System'.

- Step 3: Select "Publication/Source Titles":

The screenshot shows the 'Research Areas' dropdown menu. The menu is open, showing a list of options: 'Publication Years', 'Document Types', 'Database', 'Research Areas', 'MeSH Headings', 'MeSH Qualifiers', 'Authors', 'Publication/Source Titles', 'Open Access', and 'Conferences/Meeting Titles'. The 'Publication/Source Titles' option is highlighted in purple. To the right of the menu, there is a red box with the text '89,099 Respiratory System'.

You will then get a list of the journals that publish the most papers on COVID-19:
